Who are we looking for?

The Senior Officer – Communication will be responsible to ensure that all communication activities and media identified and developed are effectively implemented in the field. S/he will be required to travel to the states to monitor the implementation at the field and identify mid- course correction needs and possible solutions.

We are looking for a dynamic and self-motivated professional with:

Minimum

- Bachelor's degree in digital media or communications
- 2-3 years of experience in communications particularly in the digital space
- Experience of using website analytics tools
- Strong team player
- Good inter-personal skills and ability to interact and collaborate with various stakeholders
- Ability to think out of the box and come up with creative solutions

Preferred

- Experience of working with development sector in the area of health.

What would you be expected to do?

- Communication Development:
 - Gain thorough insights into ongoing programs to effectively identify and address communication needs.
 - Develop comprehensive creative and media briefs to guide communication initiatives, ensuring alignment with project objectives and target audiences.
 - Collaborate closely with external agencies, providing clear direction and necessary inputs to facilitate the production of high-quality communication materials.
 - Monitor the progress of activities against established briefs, meticulously reviewing all deliverables to ascertain opportunities for enhancing value and impact.

- Conduct thorough evaluations of agency submissions, offering constructive feedback and recommendations for refinements as needed to ensure the delivery of exceptional quality outputs.
- Identify quantity of communication material requirements from state teams and ensure timely procurement and distribution to support program objectives.
- Digital & Social Media Campaigns: Support digital initiatives, including rolling out social media campaigns for different projects. Coordinate with agencies and identify appropriate messages/creatives. Establish a systematic mechanism to monitor and evaluate the effectiveness of these campaigns, enabling informed decision-making and optimization of digital outreach strategies.
- Pre-Testing Communication Materials: Ensure that the communication materials are pre-tested with the relevant target group and that feedback is incorporated.
- Monitoring of on-ground implementation: Monitor and evaluate the performance of all communication campaigns, identify changes that need to be made from time to time, and ensure identified changes are made and effectively implemented.
- Innovations: Identify innovative solutions to address communication gaps, track mechanisms, and develop a prototype for field testing.
- Travel: Travel to program locations for understanding, pretesting of prepared materials, roll out, and evaluation.
